👤 About Me

From the moment I loaded my first 'Hello World'-HTML file in Chrome, I knew I'd be interested in diving into the world of Web development. What started with 'Hello World' has become a full fledged-passion that only get more exciting as the months go by. Below, you will find some of my projects I've done that showcase my skills, passion and commitment to the world of web development.

💼 Projects

December 2020 — Present

All projects built with HTML, CSS and Vanilla Javascript

Covid Update (https://shrtco.de/5zuiPp)

A website that shows the current status of covid based on the region(country/continent selected). It also shows the last country searched when a user reloads/comeback to the website.

Weather Forecast (https://shrtco.de/CMtPPz)

This website shows the current weather of a searched location(or close to searched word), it also shows the weather forecast for the next 5 days.It changes the background depending on the forecast

Movie (https://shrtco.de/XXN77)

This website provides the popular movies, trending movies, trending tvshows and trending people. It also shows the summary of each object. It has a little search bar where you could search for any media-type

URL shortening (https://shrtco.de/e8dIKS)

This shortens URL provided by a user. It provides an easy access to copy the shortened links. I used this to shorten all the links provided in this resume.
